Governor Doug Ducey Announces Director of the Registrar of Contractors

FEBRUARY 3, 2015

PHOENIX - Governor Doug Ducey has appointed Jeffrey Fleetham as director of the Arizona Registrar of Contractors (ROC).

"Mr. Fleetham demonstrates the knowledge and experience necessary to serve the ROC's mission with success," said Governor Doug Ducey. "He has a vast background that includes construction, consumer products, consulting and dispute resolution in both public and private sector industries. His expertise will be valuable to the agency as it protects the public while creating a positive business climate for our contractors."

Mr. Fleetham has owned 12-88 LLC, a residential project consultant and dispute resolution company, since 2013. He previously worked as an investigator with the Registrar of Contractors, responsible for inspecting commercial and residential construction projects in response to complaints filed against licensed contractors and unlicensed entities; making recommendations for construction repairs; investigating illegal activities; developing department standards and licensing requirements; and training of compliance investigators, among other duties. He received a Certificate of Commendation and a Certificate of Appreciation for Outstanding Service from the ROC in 2013.

Additional experience includes serving as vice president, laborer, foreman and superintendent of Fleet, Construction Inc.; general manager and Midwest division manager of Silverado Foods, Incorporated; Western division manager of the United States Playing Card Company; and district account manager, field sales representative and assistant field warehouse manager for Hershey Foods, Inc.

Mr. Fleetham is a member of the National Federation of Independent Business; Arizona Building Officials, where he was named Member of the Year for 2013-2014; International Code Council; and Air Conditioning Contractors of America.
